To whom it may concern:

Re: Reference Letter

I have personally known Jack Foster for the last five years. He was a key part of our design department during the Alpine construction project. He was responsible for organizing multiple sources of project information to develop a working 3D model of the Alpine facility site showing relationships of all facility modules and onsite piping. This computer model was a major tool used by construction and planners for this fast track design and construction project.

Jack has a diverse knowledge of the use of AutoCAD / Rebis and has demonstrated many times his talents to resolve issues that have come up during project execution.

Over the past couple years he has worked as a consultant for ASRC Energy Services providing software support on configurations and design development for other fast track projects we have designed and constructed. His talents have been recognized by our clients as a value added service to the project.

At this time our corporation is not in the position to hire Jack in a full time position, however I would recommend him to other companies that require the services he can provide.

Best Regards,
